DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fedora et al., US Patent 5,154,016 (Fedora).

Fedora discloses a remotely controlled bait delivery vehicle (1) for holding and selectively releasing a baited end portion (9) of a fishing line having a fishing bait, the fishing bait being connected to a fishing pole assembly via a fishing line (as clearly illustrated in Figure 1), means for controlling the remotely controlled bait delivery vehicle (3), wherein the delivery vehicle further comprises a fish finding sensor (i.e. disclosed sonar means) and a fish finder viewer (column 3, lines 9-14) wherein the system further comprises computing device implemented means (22) capable of determining the size and depth of a fish (as it is known in the art that sonar is capable of discerning not only location but the size of the fish which it detects). Fedora further discloses a device for adjusting the amount of fishing line placed in the water (column 3, lines 58-60). However, Fedora discloses that the release of the fishing bait is done manually and not automatically. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to automatically drop the bait instead of the angler viewing the fish on the monitor and then activating the drop of the bait manually, since it has been held that broadly providing a mechanical or automatic means to replace manual activity which has accomplished the same result involves only routine skill in the art. In re Venner, 120 USPQ 192.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-11 are allowed.
4. It is noted that if the Applicant were to insert the limitations of originally filed claim 12 into the independent claims 13 and 14, these claims would also receive favorable consideration as containing the allowable subject matter as claimed in amended independent claim 1.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
